The Vintage Series instruments combine the look and feel of classic, per-World War II Martins with modern improvements and materials. The result: instruments of extraordinary elegance, power and playability.

While these instruments are built on original patterns from the '30s, they benefit from over a half a century of continual advances in guitar design and construction.

The Vintage Series feature Martin's adjustable truss rod and modified V-shape neck, period fingerboard inlays, old-style long or through saddles, aging toner finish and vintage-style tuning machines are used extensively.
